The FOUNDATION OF COMFORT

EVERY enduring superstructure in this world must have a good foundation.

This is of primary importance.

As a good foundation upon which to build your health and happiness, nothing can be more substantial than properly cared-for feet.

If you have two good feet under you, take care of them. Put them into the right shoes—and you may expect the permanent basis of real and lasting foot-comfort.

Every "INVICTUS" last is a faithful mould of the human foot, and upon it, from the very best materials, is made "The Best Good Shoe."

AROUND THE TOWN

W. Lister, editor of the Carstairs Journal, paid us a friendly call on Tuesday. Come again, brother.

Mr. Geo. Fisher of Medicine Hat arrived on Wednesday on a short visit to his sister, Mrs. (Rev.) J. S. Daum.

Mr. J. E. A. Macleod, formerly a solicitor in Didsbury, now of Calgary, was a visitor in town on Thursday last.

Mr. and Mrs. Abe Rosenberger of New Dundee, Ont., were visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Theo. Reist this week.

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Cole, Mr. and Mrs. Vipond, and Mr. and Mrs. A. A. McLeod of Westcott left on Wednesday morning to attend the Fair at Edmonton.

Mr. Louis J. Liesemer, wife and family, of Detroit, Mich., is visiting with his brother, Mr. W. G. Liesemer, and other relatives in town.

The Didsbury schools will open for business on Monday, August 28th, which news no doubt will fill some of the little kiddies with gloom.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Nelson and Miss Violet Nelson of Southampton, Ont., arrived here on Monday morning on a surprise visit to Mr. Willard Nelson, their son and brother, of Sunnyslope.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Sick returned from their visit to Minneapolis on Friday last. Mr. Sick took up his duties as town constable immediately upon his return.

Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Ross of the Dominion Postoffice Department, Ottawa, arrived here on Sunday morning on a short visit to Mr. and Mrs. A. Ross west of town. Mr. D. M. Ross is on his way to Vancouver on government service.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Sanderinan returned from their farm east of Three Hills last week after a stay of some length. They brought back to the editor a fine sample of cabbage and wild raspberries for which that country is noted. It's too bad that transportation facilities were not better as the fruit would find a ready market in Didsbury.

Mr. Alex Robertson of the Dog Pound creek is the owner of two fine colts that were born exactly two months apart and from the same mare. One of the colts was born about the middle of April and the mare became mother of the other one about the middle of June and they are both doing well. According to horsemen this is rather an extraordinary occurrence amongst horses.

A very attractive and seasonable window display was exhibited on Monday morning at W. G. Liesemer's hardware store. The window showed a shooting scene complete; a sport with his shot gun, a lynx and wild cat in their lair, and prairie chicken in the camp kettle and partridge sticking out of the hunter's coat pocket, while beside the fire was some tins of pork and beans and sardines. We believe that Mr. Clayton Snyder was the artist who decorated the window and he certainly deserves credit for his work. If you are in town in the next few days do not fail to see W. G. Liesemer's window.

Several complaints are being made because the C. P. R. officials here do not keep the time board for the arrival of trains marked up closer. The regular time of arrival is marked up but as some of the trains have been quite late recently they are not marked up late until a few minutes before their arrival, causing inconvenience and waste of time to those whose business calls them to the train either to meet some person or to depart. Surely the officials know when a train is to be an hour late at the time it is due, and if so should change the board accordingly.

Roads Rushing to Bassano

Bassano, Aug. 8.—Latest reports indicate that the C. N. R. will soon be into this city, as the surveyors are busy a few miles to the north locating the route to Red Deer river, which will be continued into Bassano. The new C. P. R. Bassano-Coronation branch is reported to have been changed and will be constructed to serve the irrigation block.

ZAM-BUK AND OUTDOOR LIFE

Every tennis or ball player, every swimmer, every canoeist, every man or woman who loves outdoor life and exercise, should keep a box of Zam-Buk handy.

Zam-Buk is a purely herbal preparation, which, as soon as applied to cuts, bruises, burns, sprains, blisters, etc., sets up highly beneficial operations. First, its antiseptic properties render the wound free from all danger from blood poisoning. Next, its soothing properties relieve and ease the pain. Then its rich, herbal balm penetrates the tissue, and set up the wonderful process of healing. Barbed wire scratches, insect stings, skin diseases, such as eczema, heat rashes, ring-worm, babies' heat sores, chafed places, sore feet—are all quickly cured by Zam-Buk. It also eases and cures piles. All druggists and stores. Use Zam-Buk Soap also; 25c. per tablet.

The Letter of the Law

Mr. F. E. Smith, M.P., tells a story of a County Court case he was once engaged in, in which the plaintiff's son, a lad of eight years, was to appear as a witness.

When the youngster entered the box he wore boots several sizes too large, a hat that almost hid his face, long trousers rolled up so that the baggy knees were at his ankles, and, to complete the picture, a swallow-tail coat that had to be held to keep it from sweeping the floor. This ludicrous picture was too much for the Court; but the judge, between his spasms of laughter, managed to ask the boy his reason for appearing in such garb.

With wondering look the lad fished in an inner pocket and hauled the summons for it, pointing out a sentence with a solemn mien as he did so. "To appear in his father's suit."

Elected Unanimously

It was a great occasion. The junior eleven of the village had met to elect a new captain, the previous one having retired at the age limit (15).

One youngster was particularly vehement in asserting his claims for the post, and talked down all the other candidates.

He was the son of the owner of the cricket-field, and had a snub nose and red hair, and a very aggressive manner.

I'm going to be captain this year, he announced finely after two hours of arguing, or else father's old bull will be turned into the field at once.

A commercial traveller at a railway station in one of our southern towns included in his order for breakfast two boiled eggs. The old darky who served him brought him three.

THE FARMERS AND THE GRAIN RING

The Duty of the Hour

In previous articles we have fully exposed the true inwardness of the proposed sample market for grain and the selfish motives of the Winnipeg Grain Ring who are seeking to force the grain growers of the Western Provinces to accept it. The grain men of Winnipeg are not to be trusted. In the past they have always sought to secure unfair advantages at the expense of the farmers, and when they propose to remove at one blow, all the legal restrictions that now check their rapacity by the establishment of a sample market, they must be resisted with untiring determination and vigor. The people of the western provinces cannot afford to sacrifice the advantages they have gained over this ring of sharks after years of determined conflict. The farmers should remember that when the sample market is established, all grain passes into the hands of the Winnipeg grain ring the moment it is shipped, to be sold by the grain combine for any price they choose to pay. The people of the West will never submit to such an injustice.

We wish to again to emphasize the fact that the farmers of the West have never asked for a sample market and will not have it at any price. The present system of grading and shipping grain gives general satisfaction to the producers of the West, and is also satisfactory to the buyers in Great Britain, France, Germany and other European countries as well as the United States and home buyers. The foreign buyer can now buy on grade, sending his orders from his home office, and can be sure of getting just what he has ordered. On the contrary, if he orders from a sample market, he must either send an agent across the Atlantic at great expense (which is paid by the western farmer) or he must trust the Winnipeg grain sharks who will charge him a good fat commission for buying for him on the sample market (which commission must also be paid by the western farmers).

In a recent report of J. T. Lithgow, Canadian Trade Commissioner in Germany, he shows the value of the present grading system alike to the Western Canadian farmer and the German grain buyer. "He says:—Canadian wheat takes a very high place in the estimation of German importers and millers, and the large Hamburg importers express the greatest satisfaction at the grading and at the condition of the wheat on arrival. There is a probability that this year the demand for Canadian wheat will be greatly increased." The establishment of a sample market would greatly injure this prospective trade, if not entirely destroy it by abolishing the present standard grades. It would be folly not to foster the German market for wheat, particularly in view of the great crop that will be harvested this fall.

We wish again to emphasize the necessity of quick transit from the farmers market to the lake ports. The railway companies are making every endeavor to be ready to handle the immense crop that will be harvested next fall. Last April the C.P.R. ordered for immediate delivery two hundred and fifty locomotives of the largest type and twelve thousand forty-ton freight cars in addition to the engines and cars being built at the shops in Montreal. The Grand Trunk Pacific and the Canadian Northern Railways have also ordered hundreds of locomotives and thousands of freight cars. But all these additions will scarcely suffice to move the crop on time, particularly when we consider that after the close of navigation on the Lakes there will only be a single line of railway from Fort William to Montreal to convey the grain left at the head of the lakes and in country elevators. In the face of these facts the grain sharks in Winnipeg and the Big Interests at their back, with monumental impudence and selfishness want to hold up for twenty-four hours in Winnipeg every car load of wheat grown in the western provinces, thus putting hundreds of cars daily out of commission.

The marketing of grain and all kindred matters are wholly within the province of the farmers, and no steps should be taken in such matters without consulting them. They are the best judges of what is to their interests, and they universally resent the attempt of the selfish grain dealers to saddle them with a system that would take from them the safeguards which they now possess.

An Oil for All Men.—The sailor, the soldier, the fisherman, the lumberman, the outdoor laborer and all who are exposed to injury and the elements will find in Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil a true and faithful friend. To ease pain, relieve colds, dress wounds, subdue lumbago and overcome rheumatism, it has no equal. Therefore, it should have a place in all home medicine boxes and those taken on a journey.

They were decorating the parish church for a certain festival, when the vicar happened to come in. Seeing some tacks lying about the pulpit, he remarked to his daughter, who had apparently been using them—

Don't leave those tacks lying about. What if I stepped on one in the middle of the sermon?

Well, exclaimed Katie, there would be one point you wouldn't linger on.

The lawyer sank into his chair, and put his feet on the table.

What, already? said his mother, in consternation. It doesn't seem possible. How late does he stop out?

Well, said the little bride, gulping down her heartrending sobs gallantly, you know he usually leaves his office at half-past five. The night before last he didn't get home till half-past six, and last night—she sobbed bitterly—last night it was a quarter to seven! O-o-o-h what shall I do?

Good Logic

The following article is so lucid and coincides with our view of the reason why we should interest ourselves in the great question that will be put before the Canadian people before long as to what we will do in the naval question that Mr. Borden is bringing to this country, and which is being reported so largely in all the daily papers, that we take the liberty of copying it in its entirety. The article was written by Mr. R. J. C. Stead and was published in the High River Times.

Because there is no immediate prospect of a hostile fleet on the Pacific Coast sending its shells over the Rocky mountains and destroying High River, or yet of foreign bluejackets from the East sweeping up and commandeering the live stock of our worthy farmers and ranchers, many people in an inland province like Alberta feel that they have no direct concern with the question of naval defence. The British born, of course, have had it bred into them that Britannia must rule the waves at all cost, but a large part of our population is not British born, and it is quite natural that this large and important section of the community should regard the naval agitation as an expression of imperialistic sentiment rather than a serious personal problem which must be faced and answered.

Take the Alberta farmer, for instance, who feels no particular attachment to Great Britain. True, he is a naturalized British subject. He may be called upon to fight in defense of Canada against any enemy. And if so called upon he would answer with enthusiasm and account himself as a man. Canada is his country, and he is ready, as every true man must be, to fight for the land of his birth or adoption. But he sees no occasion to mix in the troubles of England. If England and Germany must fight, let them fight and leave him alone, to raise his wheat and live stock for sale at war prices. This, it seems to me, is the attitude of many well intentioned people who have not looked deeply into this naval question.

But let him look deeper. Canada's greatest market, the greatest market of the Alberta farmer and rancher, is England. Even with reciprocity, this would remain true. If there were any means by which Canadian products could be shut from the British market the price would split in two in twenty-four hours. There is at present no country to take our surplus. The English market remains to us a vital necessity. It is a matter of life and death—of existence itself, to the Canadian farmer, dairyman and stock raiser.

Very well. Now what is the purpose of the powers which are building war vessels in wild haste to match themselves with England? Do they propose, when they feel strong enough to challenge the British fleet to fight and once and for all settle the question of naval supremacy? Not at all. They can never hope to place ship for ship and man for man on the sea to match Great Britain. But they can hope to build a navy strong enough to cut the English trade routes; a navy that will avoid fighting as much as possible, but will sweep the seas of the British merchant marine, seizing the wheat and cattle steamers from Canada and hauling them off as rich contraband of war to foreign ports. By such means they hope to starve England into submission, but while they are doing so where is the Canadian farmer to sell his wheat?

McClary's

Sold by W. G. Liesemer

With the hazards of war against them the steamship companies will refuse to carry food to England unless they are escorted by British battleships of sufficient power to beat off any enemy that might attack them. And that, my friend, is what the battleships are wanted for. Not that patriotic jingoes may boast of our naval strength, not that we may send our fleets to sink those of other nations, and drown men who have as much right to live as we ourselves, but for the purpose as necessary to us as life itself, of protecting the trade routes of the Empire.

Take an illustration. Suppose our government had reason to believe that an enemy intended seizing the C. P. R. between Winnipeg and Fort William this fall, and preventing any western wheat from reaching the lakes. What would we say of a government which would face such a situation with its hands folded, making no effort to meet the crisis? Yet what difference does it make to us whether our trade routes are cut between Winnipeg and Fort William or between Montreal and Liverpool? Isn't one as bad as the other?

I have been trying of late to get all the information I can on this German war scare, and I am coming to the conclusion held by many authorities that the German navy is to sweep the Monroe doctrine from the coasts of America, and the nation against which Germany intends measuring her strength is the United States. Germany, by a system of protection and bonuses, has built up immense producing industries, and she must have markets. It isn't a matter of greed with Germany; it's a matter of bread. It isn't glory she wants but a chance to sell her goods. She has seen the British Empire grow until the map of the whole world is splashed with red; she has seen Africa and Asia and America being steadily absorbed by other great powers while she is left hungry and lean. There remains only one great wealthy continent to divide, and Germany is determined that, be the cost what it may, she is going to have her share of that continent. That country is South America, and the only thing that stands between Germany and her ambition is the Monroe doctrine and the United States. It is to challenge that doctrine she is building her battleships.

But why the German hatred against England—the only country in the world that admits German goods without tax or tariff? It is because England stands between Germany and her ambition. England has all the territory she wants and Germany thinks she might quietly keep out of a matter that doesn't concern her. If Germany could be assured of England's neutrality she would probably challenge the United States tomorrow. But she remembers the Spanish-American war, when the European powers agreed that the time had come to bring the United States to its knees. But Britain stopped it. Britain said that she would not, and others must not, interfere. And they didn't. But Germany has not forgotten. She is afraid that England is still as sentimental as ever. And she is building a powerful navy, not, I believe, in the hope of some day whipping England, but rather to make it too dangerous for England to interfere when the time comes to compel the United States to either fight for the Monroe doctrine or abandon it.

And if you know how young and beautiful you look, you would understand me.

She was silent for a few minutes and remained gazing at the elm-tops along the water ways above the fruit tree branches.

Then she said in decisive tones—
You must forget all this, Mr. Worth and let us remain friends.

I have no intention of forgetting it, Lady Anne. And my name is not Worth.

She glanced nervously round.
Pray take care what you say, she said. I have told you how that other name is considered here.

Nevertheless, it is mine, he returned. My father was a Clavel, brother of Sir Alan and son of Sir John Clavel. He added my mother's name of Worth to his own on his marriage, and so he and I have been called Clavelworth. I am deeply sorry if I have hurt your feelings by mentioning these things, but I cannot sell under false colors before you, of all people. I have come to England to see the place which is mine by right, and as soon as I have proved my claim to it I mean to settle down here. Meantime, I have called myself Worth to avoid comment—a useless precaution, it would seem, for again and again my likeness to the family has excited comment.

She looked at him fixedly.
Yes, she said with a sigh, there is very little doubt that you are like them. And I pity you with all my heart.

Pity me?
Yes. Were you wretched out in America? Were you poor, or unhappy, or friendless? Are you in desperate need of money? Or a home or a position?

? he asked in surprise, and then, at the mere idea, he could not forbear laughing.

Forgive me, Lady Anne, he said. But my grandfather is a millionaire, and my widowed mother has just married one of the richest men in the States. Up to now I have had too much comfort and luxury. I was spoiled, I suppose, for I found it monotonous.

And so, she exclaimed, rising in her excitement, you left all that splendid position and wealth and civilisation to come to this remote corner of the world and stir up the dregs of a wretched crime, and bring to the light of day things which are better hid—which must be hid! What good do you hope to do yourself by it? It is not a great estate or a rich one. It is hampered by debts and mortgages, and a huge dwelling-place which no one can afford to live in. Even if you could prove your claim what would you do with it?

He rose also and stood facing her, looking at her steadily with his brilliant blue-grey eyes.

I should live there with you as my wife, Lady Anne Clavel, he said.

She gave a frightened cry, and cast terrified glances round her.

For heaven's sake, don't say that! she whispered. I see George Anning there lurking among the trees. If he should have overheard you—

And what if he should? he asked boldly. Will you let me say that what puzzles me here is the extraordinary nervousness there is in the air. I can understand that the name of Clavel frightens people, but it is not only that; there is a general sense of fear about. As soon as I decided to stay at a picturesque old farmhouse I was told a lot of tales to frighten me away from it—

Who told you them?
The woman at the inn, the Royal Hotel.

What did she tell you?
All sorts of stories about monks who strangled, and monks who made love.

Monks who made love! What did she say?
Some astounding fairy tales about a dairymaid at the farm, who was frightened into fits by a monk who wanted to carry her off to the lower regions—

But when did this happen?
A few years ago, I think; but really, I forget the details. Then came more stories about strange noises and ghostly hands—

He stopped short, remembering his own odd experience of that kind. She was watching him intently.

Tell me everything you heard, she said impressively.

It all came to the same thing—that the Manor Farm is haunted.

And do you not believe in haunted houses? she asked, with a strange mournfulness in her tone.

It seems presumptuous to say I don't believe in them, he answered. But I should think the trouble must come from within ourselves; I mean that our distorted fancies and nervous fears call these ghosts into shape that are visible to us—

Can you not understand, she asked slowly, her voice sad and sweet as the notes of a violin in the hands of a genius, that, living little in this world as we do, surrounded on every side by the buildings, the furniture, the paintings, and the writings of those who have left it before us, something of their minds and spirits clings about things they have made or used, the houses in which their loves or sorrows have come to them, or which they have darkened by their crimes? For me, these ruins and those water-ways and this orchard in which we stand are full of a silent band, working and studying as they used to do, in the white robe and black cap, and they were in the old days when this was their home. They take no notice of me; they know I am their friend, and that if I had my way, this place would be given over to the Catholic poor for ever. But to me, who have lived at Lodgers Abbey for seven years, it sounds strange that anyone should doubt that places are haunted.

Are you a Catholic, Lady Anne?
I wish I were! she said.

She flushed deeply, and a look of pain came into her eyes.

They had wandered far enough from love-making in their talk, and Harry realised that, frankly as she seemed to speak, he understood her less than ever.

If this place should come to me, he said, as I suppose it will, would it please you for me to do as you suggest—give it back to the Church.

The place will never come to you! she cried out passionately. Give up all idea of it, Mr. Worth, and go back to America. You have all you want without it.

She turned sharply away from him as she finished speaking, but he followed her.

I have got to love the neighborhood even in a week, he said. But I am ready to give it up if you will go back to America with me as my wife.

When Governor Head was in office in New Hampshire, Colonel Barrett, of the Governor's staff, died, and there was an unseemly scramble for the office even while his body was awaiting burial with military honors. One candidate ventured to call upon Governor Head.

Governor, he asked, do you think you would have any objection if I was to get into Colonel Barrett's place?

The answer came promptly—

No, I don't think I should have any objection, if the undertaker is willing.

A Sure Corrective of Flatulency—When the undigested food lies in the stomach it throws off gases, causing pains and oppression in the stomachic region. The belching or eructation of these gases is offensive and the only way to prevent them is to restore the stomach to proper action. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills will do this. Simple directions go with each packet and a course of them taken systematically is certain to effect a cure.

TONIC TREATMENT FOR THE STOMACH

The Modern Method Most Successful in Treating Indigestion

The old fashioned methods of treating indigestion and stomach troubles are being discarded. The trouble with the old fashioned methods was that when the treatment was stopped the trouble returned in an aggravated form.

The modern method of curing indigestion and other stomach troubles is to tone up the stomach to do its normal work. Every step toward recovery is a step gained, not to be lost again. The recovery of the appetite, the disappearance of pain, the absence of gas—all are steps on the road to health that those who have tried the tonic treatment remember distinctly.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a tonic medicine, every constituent of which is helpful in building up the digestive organs, and is therefore the very best remedy for chronic cases of stomach trouble. The success of the treatment is proved by thousands of cases like the following. Mr. W. W. Swain, Grand Valley, Ont., says:—

"For several years my mother had stomach trouble from which she got no relief whatever until she began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. She was treated at different times by three doctors, but their efforts did not avail. Then she was advised to try an electric belt, but it proved worthless. She suffered much during this time and food became distasteful. The trouble also affected her nerves and her general health was on the verge of a breakdown. One day a friend who was in asked her to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Without very much hope that the Pills would prove successful when other medicines had failed, we nevertheless got her a supply. In a few weeks we could see a decided change, and she was able to eat. A few weeks more and she was cured. We never again had stomach trouble, and she was able to do her usual work. I hope this statement will bring relief to other sufferers."

Why experiment with medicines of doubtful value, when you have such positive evidence of the benefit following the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills? Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Chollie—I'm doing my best to get ahead, you know.

Dollie—Well, everybody knows you need one.

MONEY TO LOAN ON FARM PROPERTY AT CURRENT RATES OF INTEREST

GRAIN

The surest and most satisfactory way in which the Western farmer can secure for himself the full value of his grain, is to ship it by the carload in bulk to Fort William or Port Arthur, and employ a reliable and experienced grain commission firm in the Winnipeg market to look after and dispose of it. We are old established and widely known over Western Canada in this branch of the grain trade. We act as farmers' agents and handle strictly on commission, and are not open to buy the farmers' grain on our own account. We make liberal advances on car bills of lading, supervise the grading of cars, obtain the highest prices going at time of sale, and make prompt returns when sold.

We invite farmers to write to us for shipping instructions and market information. We give as references to our reliability, efficiency and financial standing any city or country bank manager in Western Canada.

A celebrated engineer, being examined at a trial where both the judge and counsel tried in vain to browbeat him, made use in his evidence of the expression, "The creative power of a mechanic," on which the judge rather tartly asked him what he meant by the creative power of a mechanic.

Why, my lord, said the engineer, I mean that power which enables a man to convert a goat's tail into a judge's wig.

Mr Croker-King, the well-known actor, tells of an amusing incident of a theatrical tour. A certain town was "billed" for two great rival productions. On the arrival of the train which brought both companies a certain man, bound on business, approached one of the company as he stepped out of a first-class compartment, and politely raising his hat, said in all sincerity: "Beg pardon, sir, are you The Darling of the Gods, or The Greatest Scoundrel Living?"

Wonderful Cures Reported In Germany.

The use of simple herbs as remedies instead of the more concentrated and usually more dangerous inorganic substances, has been revived very widely of late. In Germany a new school of physicians has arisen which throws out almost a whole of the pharmacopoeia and relies on an adaptation of the method of wild animals in curing themselves. . . . N. Y. World.

It was Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute of Buffalo, N. Y., who first advocated the extended use of some of our native roots, such as: Golden seal and Oregon grape root, mandrake and queen's root, black cherrybark. These are the chief ingredients in Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which has been so well and favorably known for nearly half a century. A harmless cleanser and stomach tonic that nature has provided.

J. DONALD MATTHEWSON of Ossining, N. Y. says: "I suffered for over five years with what the doctors told me was a dilated condition of the stomach, associated with a catarrhal condition of same, and nervous heart. I had tried enough nux, bismuth, gentian, rhubarb, etc., to float a ship and naturally thought there was no cure for me, but after reading what eminent doctors said of the curative qualities of the ingredients of 'Golden Medical Discovery' I gave it a fair trial. Took the 'Discovery' and also the 'Pleasant Pellets,' and can truthfully say I am feeling better now than I have in years. I cheerfully give permission to print this testimonial, and if any 'doubting Thomas' writes me I will 'put him wise' to the best all-around medicine in the country today."

'MARVELOUS' CURES OF SKIN ERUPTION

Four Children Constantly Scratching. Nearly Tore Limbs Off. Cured in a Month by Cuticura Soap and Ointment

"Two of my daughters and two of my sons were suffering from very bad heads, the doctor ordering my daughters to have all their hair cut off so as to prevent it from spreading all over their heads, and to get to the roots of the trouble in order to be able to rub some ointment, which he gave them, well into the sores. These sores started in small blotches which got larger and larger and then burst and spread all over their heads, and in some cases down their backs and bodies. The doctor said it was eczema, but they seemed to be daily getting worse. The sores formed like little boils, then filled with matter, and looked like abscesses. They became all inflamed and irritated, causing them to be constantly scratching themselves. This made the sores burst, and the matter flowed all over their heads. We had to cut their finger nails and at times to put gloves on their hands. The irritation was so bad, to keep them from digging into the flesh, and at night they would nearly tear their limbs off. The bolsters would be literally covered with blood."

"The teachers would not let them attend school for fear of infection spreading among the other children, so I resolved to try the Cuticura Remedies, which I found to benefit my children greatly. I continued with the Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment for one month, and the result is a marvelous cure." (Signed) George Arthur Robinson, 27, Fitzwilliam St., Hoyland Common, Ark. Barnsley, Yorks., Eng., Jan. 3, 1911.

Although Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold throughout the world, a liberal sample of each, with 32-p. book on the skin will be sent free, on application to Foster P. & C. Corp., 46 Columbus Ave., Boston, U. S. A.

THE GERMAN MENACE

WINSTON CHURCHILL CRITICIZED BY LORD BERESFORD

Churchill's Administration is Declared to be a Failure—That the Only Naval Alliance Should be with the Overseas Dominions, is the Opinion of Beresford.

London, England.—Lord Charles Beresford speaking at Evesham recently had many unkind things to say of Winston Churchill, whom he characterized as the most eccentric individual who had ever been entrusted with the naval executive.

He has occupied the position eight months and proved a miserable failure.

He speaks of looking at things with a motion eye, but the first necessity is to see straight.

With unaccountable insolence, Winston Churchill took charge of the recent Sp'head naval review, which resulted in chaotic disorganization.

The German menace was in his opinion so serious that to withdraw the whole fleet to protect the heart of the Empire, would mean leaving one armoured cruiser only responsible for the Mediterranean.

We cannot present a fight, added Lord Charles, and shall not be ready for some time to come.

Vigorously opposing a naval alliance with a foreign country, he urged that the Empire defend its own with its own ships only, and that the alliance we should desire is the one with the overseas Dominions. He concluded that he did not fear invasion but starvation. He would always have granaries in the country with three or four points for the storage of food.

We have reduced our fleet, we have reduced our army, while other nations are forging ahead by leaps and bounds. I say stop fooling the people and tell them the truth.

LABOR TROUBLES IN MINES

Labor Department of Dominion Government to Appoint Board of Investigation

Ottawa.—Difficulties have arisen between the management of several mines at South Porcupine and their men and the labor department has been asked and has consented to establish a board of investigation. The mines concerned are the Porcupine, McIntyre, Jupiter, Plenaurnum and McEnany companies. In the case of the McEnany Company forty men are directly affected and that of the others 225, although a much larger number of persons is indirectly affected. The men claim that wages have been reduced. The companies contend that their proposed schedule of wages is identical with that of the Dome and Hollinger mines the large producers of the district, and that hitherto they have been working under pressure and paying for development work. The companies originally intended to put the new schedule in force August 1, but as a result of communications from the department of labor they have postponed the date of the schedule going into effect till September 1, thereby giving the board of investigation time to operate.

UNIFORMITY OF STATISTICS.

Prof. Shortt Enlists Co-operation of Western Provinces Save Alberta

Victoria, B.C.—Professor Adam Shortt, who is touring the West as commissioner for the Dominion government, was successful in enlisting the hearty co-operation of the British Columbia government in the project to provide a uniformity of statistics in every branch of Canadian development.

The object of the commission, of which Richard Grigg is the other member, is to obtain complete records of production and distribution and points of origin, the destination of commodities, their volume, value and points of origin, the destination of imports and exports and the cost of transportation.

Special attention will be paid to the statistics of interprovincial trade.

Prof. Shortt has now secured the co-operation of the Manitoba, Saskatchewan and British Columbia governments and on his way back he will visit Edmonton and interview Premier Sifton on Alberta's attitude.

Mr. Grigg is engaged in interviewing the provincial governments in the East and the commission will report the results of its findings to Hon. Geo. E. Foster, during September and will outline an elaborate scheme of collecting statistics.

CANADA AND PRIVY COUNCIL

Canada Should Have Representative Feeling in England

St. John, N.B.—That there should be a Canadian representative on the privy council is the feeling in England, says W. H. Trueman, barrister of Winnipeg, who arrived in St. John after arguing a case on the other side.

It is planned, Mr. Trueman added, to change the constitution of the judicial committee to have a Canadian added to its membership and Lord Haldane is sounding prominent Canadians to ascertain their views as to what steps can be taken to make the committee acceptable to Canadians and to overcome any disposition to abolish Canadian appeals to the committee.

MASTERY OF THE SEA

Debate Says France and Russia Depend on English Fleet in Event of War

Paris.—The newspaper Debats says of M. Poincaré's visit to Russia, that by extending the Russo-French military convention of 1892 to the navies of the two countries, Russia and France are seeking to prevent a continental coalition wresting the mastery of the seas from Britain as it is on this that the efficiency of Britain's aid to her continental allies depends in time of war. The Vienna Reichpost says that the proposed Russo-French convention refers the Black Sea fleet to eventual action in the eastern Mediterranean. Britain appears to be reconciled to the fact that other powers have established a flank at Suez. If this is so Austria must have a naval base in the Aegean Sea.

BEST RESULTS FROM SOIL

Series of Demonstrations to be Carried on by Dominion Government

Ottawa.—With the object of demonstrating to the farmers of the Dominion the most economical manner of getting the best results from the soil the commission of conservation has chosen a number of farms throughout the various provinces for illustration purposes. The commission has in each case chosen farms whose owners agree to be guided by the agricultural experts provided. These experts are F. C. Munick, the commission's agricultural expert, and John Fixter, formerly a farm superintendent of McDonald College. The farms for demonstration purposes have already been chosen in the eastern provinces and both Mr. Munick and Mr. Fixter are now in the west arranging for farms for similar purposes in the prairie provinces. In Ontario there are eight farms, in Quebec six and in New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island and Nova Scotia three each.

Physicians May Practice Anywhere

Ottawa.—Medical reciprocity throughout Canada is now assured as a result of all the provinces having Canada Medical Act. The act was passed in 1911, after many years of agitation, and the overcoming of much opposition. Briefly stated the act provides for a Dominion medical council and enables any physician certified by it to practice in any province of the Dominion. Heretofore there have been separate provincial councils and a doctor in Quebec, for instance, could not practise in Ontario without passing a separate examination.

The new council is to be composed of three members residing in different provinces, to be appointed by the Dominion government, two representing each province, one from each university or medical school having an arrangement with a university for conferring degrees in medicine, and three representing the homeopathic. The term of office will be four years. Candidates for examination may elect to be examined in either English or French.

H. B. RAILWAY TENDERS

TENDERS FOR CONSTRUCTION TO BE LET AT ONCE

Hon. Frank Cochrane Announces that the Contract for the Building of the H.B. Road to Tidewater will be Let in September, and work will be Proceeded with this Fall

Winnipeg.—Tenders are to be let at once for the building of the Hudson Bay Railroad to Tidewater. The contract will be let in September and the work will be rushed to completion. Announcement of this effect was made by Hon. Frank Cochrane at Winnipeg.

The minister of railways said that the object in calling for tenders now was to secure active construction which opens this fall and winter.

I am leaving for the Bay Saturday morning, said Mr. Cochrane. The exact date at which I will get back to Eastern Canada cannot be determined but it will be early in September. I should wait until my return from the Bay to call for tenders and then give a month for the returns to come in the contracts would be let very late in the year. The contractors can go to work on the profiles which will be available here and can submit figures on both routes to the bay. When I return a decision will be reached with reference to the route and the contracts will be let in accordance with this decision. It seems an unusual manner in which to proceed but it is essential that action of this kind should be taken. It is the object of the government to build and complete the line at the earliest possible moment and for this reason I am making the arrangement that the contract may be let soon after my return to Ottawa. The tenders for the building of the dump all the way to the Bay will be called immediately.

FIVE YEARS IN JAIL

Militant Suffragettes are Given Stiff Sentence by Irish Judge

Dublin.—Mary Leigh, the suffragette who was tried on the charge of wounding John E. Redmond, leader of the Irish parliamentary party with a hatchet she had thrown at Premier Asquith's carriage July 19, was sentenced to five years' imprisonment.

Gladys Evans, whose sentence was reserved after she had been found guilty of setting fire to the Theatre Royal, here, July 18, in which Mr. Asquith was scheduled to speak the following day on home rule, was also sentenced to a term of five years.

Lizzie Baker, charged with being an accomplice of Gladys Evans, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to seven months' imprisonment.

Mabel Capper, who was accused of being an accomplice of Gladys Evans, was discharged for lack of evidence.

Mary Leigh addressed the jury in her own defence. She attempted to justify the militant methods of the suffragettes because peaceful methods had failed to gain votes for women.

The Attorney-general for Ireland, C. A. O'Connor, spoke strongly of the horrors which would have attended a theatre fire, saying that was a price too high to pay for votes for women.

The verdict of guilty returned by the jury was received with applause by the spectators in court.

The judge said it was his painful duty to pronounce a sentence which would have a deterrent effect.

Chinese Election in November Next

Peking.—President Yuan plans a national election about November. It was announced recently. Polling places will be in principal cities only. This will not give everybody a chance to vote, but it would take forever to get returns otherwise. People will elect members of parliament and parliament will elect the president. Yuan expects it will choose him. He is only the provisional president now.

No Market for Their Produce

Chatham, Ont.—According to reports that have reached this city much discontent exists among British farmers settled upon the intensively farming lands in Tilbury last spring.

The settlers claim that promises of the land company that a co-operative organization would be formed for handling vegetables and fruit have been unfulfilled, and although they have railway facilities for shipping there is no available market for their produce.

As a result they have been compelled to sell at low prices. Some farmers threaten to return to England this fall.

Litigation is talked of, while others have decided to go West.

OTTAWA TYPHOID EPIDEMIC

Parliament will Likely Pass a Bill Dealing With Pollution of Lakes and Rivers

Ottawa.—With the occurrence of a typhoid epidemic it is likely that this coming session of parliament will pass a bill dealing with the pollution of lakes and rivers.

Last session bills seeking to prevent by law the pollution of waters were introduced in the Senate and Commons respectively, by Senator Belcourt and G. H. Bradbury, of Selkirk, but an opportunity was not presented for their consideration.

ODDFELLOWS GATHERING

Sovereign Grand Lodge to Meet in Winnipeg on Sept. 14

Winnipeg.—Western Canada will be honored this year by having the Sovereign Grand Lodge, I.O.O.F. meet in Winnipeg, during the week of September 14th. This will be the third occasion since the institution of this great legislative body that the meetings have been held under the Union Jack. In 1885 and 1905, the sessions took place in Toronto. This gathering is admittedly the largest convention held in the world when representatives and visitors from every State in the Union and every Province in the Dominion and from over the Seas meet, legislation affecting over 2,000,000 men and women being discussed.

The Winnipeg Committee have been at work for nearly two years preparing and at the present time the finishing touches for the monster gathering entertainment are being added. The railroads have announced an exceptionally low rate of single fare plus 25c. (convention plan) for the round trip. The going rates being September 7-12 return limit October 31st. From points within a radius of 200 miles special excursion rates will be effective and trains will be run to Winnipeg for the Parade Day, September 18. This parade will move through the city via Broadway, Main to Higgins, Higgins to Portage, to Kennedy street.

The Committee estimate a parade strength of from 12,000 to 15,000. The prize list for Degree Contests is the largest ever given, upwards of $10,000 in cash being offered. Entries close September 1st.

The estimated cost ($20,000) for entertainment has been contributed solely by the Odd Fellows of Western Canada.

The Sovereign Grand Lodge met in Indianapolis last year and it was estimated that upwards of 100,000 people were drawn to that city. While the arrangements were good there, the Winnipeggers feel that they will go the Indianapolis brethren one better. His Honor Judge Myers is chairman and B. D. Deering, Grand Secretary of Manitoba is Secretary. All requests for information will be promptly replied to by addressing B. D. Deering, Odd Fellows Temple, Kennedy street, Winnipeg.

Detection of Icebergs by Instrument

Ottawa.—In a few days the scientific world will have known the result of experiments which Professor Barnes has been making in the Straits of Belle Isle with his invention for the detection of icebergs by ocean going steamers. Ever since the announcement of the claim of Professor Barnes the world has awaited expectantly the result of his experiments. For the past month Professor Barnes has been cruising in the Straits of Belle Isle on board the government steamer Montcalm, which has been placed at his disposal and a message received by the deputy minister of marine and fisheries conveys the information that several very successful tests have been made. The Montcalm will arrive at Sydney, N.S., in a few days and Professor Barnes will submit a report to the government.

All Coming West

Montreal.—While immigrants from Europe are continually passing through Montreal, the fact that the western movement is strong, even in Quebec province was shown at the Windsor station when one of the C.P.R. homeseekers' excursions required practically an extra train to be run as a second section to the Imperial Limited. There were about two hundred in the party, which was exclusively from the province of Quebec, and most of them were bound for various points in Saskatchewan and Alberta. While they all had certificates entitling them to return within the next month or two it was considered by the C.P.R. officials that few of these would be used as most of the men were accompanied by wives and children.

GEOLOGISTS FOR TORONTO

World's Convention Will be Held in Queen City Next Summer

Ottawa.—The geological department here is already making arrangements for the world's convention of geological experts, which may be held at Toronto next summer. The convention will be under the auspices of the Dominion government. G. A. Young, of the geological department is now travelling through the various provinces in connection with this matter. Following the convention at Toronto, it is planned that those in attendance divide into two groups, one going to the western, and the other to the maritime provinces.

Furthest Point North

Edmonton, Alta.—Gen. Supt. Wilcox, of the C.N.R., says that all of the construction work on the Athabasca Landing branch is practically completed and as permission has been secured from the Railway Commission the company will be ready to give a regular passenger and freight service to the farthest railroad point north.

Russia Consents to Sign Agreement

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL

LESSON VII.—THIRD QUARTER FOR AUG. 13, 1912

Text of the Lesson, Mark v. 21-43

Memory Verses, 41, 42—Golden Text, Mark v. 41—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns

At the request of the people of Galilee he left their coasts and re-crossed the sea to His own city, Capernaum, and the people received Him gladly, for they were all waiting for Him. There are many places today, chiefly in so-called Christendom, where He is not wanted as the opposer of Satan and his works, for much that is called church work and much preaching is really not for Christ, but against Him, while there are many others longing to hear of Him. I have just read of one valley in Mr. Beauchamp's territory in Colima where a thousand people are crying loudly for a teacher and many leading families have put away their idols. May the Lord direct us to the open doors and make us willing and obedient. Troubles come to the rich as well as the poor, the devil is the oppressor of all classes, and in this lesson we see a rich man, a ruler and a poor woman, both in great trouble, a little girl twelve years developing and a poor woman twelve years growing weaker and both seemingly in hopeless condition as far as this life goes. Both find deliverance at the feet of Jesus. Jairus, the ruler of the synagogue, fell at His feet and besought Him greatly for his only daughter, who was at the point of death, that He would come and lay His hands on her and heal her. The sick woman had spent all her living upon physicians, had suffered much and was nothing bettered, but rather grew worse. She had such faith in Him, no doubt by hearing of His wondrous works, that she believed if she could only touch the hem of His garment she would be healed. Jesus arose to go with Jairus, His disciples followed and much people thronged Him. It was in this throng that the sick woman came and succeeded in touching the border of His garment and was immediately healed. Jesus, knowing that some one had believably touched him, turned about and said, "Who touched my clothes?" Peter and the other disciples said in surprise, "Master, the multitude throng and press thee." But He insisted that some one had touched Him in a special manner and that virtue had gone out of Him. It is just so still—many meet to worship Him but few touch Him as this woman did. Many know about Him, but comparatively few know Him in the sense of receiving power from Him for themselves or others.

When the woman saw that what she had done was known to Him she fell down before Him and declared unto Him before all the people why she had touched Him and how she was healed immediately (Luke viii, 47). This is what He wanted, that He might do more for her than she had expected. She had already received what she came for and expected, but He loves to do exceeding abundantly above all we can ask or think (Eph. iii, 20). She had no thought that He would speak to her personally much less call her daughter. She could never forget those words from His lips, "Daughter, be of good comfort, thy faith hath made thee whole; go in peace." (verse 34, Luke viii, 48; Matt. ix, 22). This "good comfort" is just His good cheer of Matt. ix, 2; xiv, 27; John xvi, 23. Had she not publicly confessed her healing by His power she would not only have missed this special blessing, but would have occasion to upbraid herself because she had not done so. There is much blessing in obeying (Rom. x, 9). "If thou shalt confess with thy mouth to the Lord Jesus," in last lesson the healed demoniac was sent home to tell his friends how great things the Lord had done for him, and the command stands to declare His doings among the people. (Isa. xli, 4).

What about the anxious father all this time and the only daughter, whom he left dying? The incident we have been dwelling upon probably took much less time than we have to write it, but there are times when minutes seem very long, and it may have been so with Jairus. But God is never too late. Though He tarry, we must wait for Him and be patient (Heb. x, 36, 37; Hab. ii, 3, 4). While He still talked to the woman tidings came from the ruler's house that the little girl was dead, which as soon as Jesus heard He said to Jairus, "Be not afraid only believe" (verse 36). Reaching the house, He said to the weeping people: "Why make ye this ado? The damsel is not dead, but sleepeth." And taking only Peter, James and John, and the little maid's father and mother (Luke viii, 52), He went in where she was and took her hand and said, "Damsel, I say unto thee, Arise." Immediately she arose and walked, and He commanded that something should be given her to eat (43). There was no further laughing to scorn (40) but a great astonishment, for they had never seen anything like this. This manner of man was not ordinary, a man full of compassion for all sick and suffering and with the power to heal the otherwise incurable and to raise the dead—truly a man and as truly God, now our great High Priest at the right hand of the Father, knowing us, loving us, caring for us and still saying the same words, "Be of good cheer, be not afraid, only believe."

KEEP OUT!

"KEEP OUT" used to hang as a sign on every factory door. The old idea of secrecy in business made it a crime to show outsiders processes, materials, and methods of manufacture.

Now the white light of publicity is being let in by those who depend on public favor for business profits and business growth. The "keep out" sign is disappearing from factory doors and the "welcome" sign is taking its place.

Candor and honesty form the backbone of modern advertising. Men tell the truth, and it pays. Modern selling relies more and more on the confidence and good will of the buyer.

Today, eyes are too sharp and intelligence too keen to make deceit possible. Absolute frankness in advertising is the straight road to confidence. The public demands the light; it abominates and fears darkness.

Today, many canning factories, packing houses, bake shops, and public kitchens welcome visitors, concealing nothing.

Today, many public service companies use the newspapers to tell the truth about themselves.

Today, many big industrial enterprises are open without hindrance to the inspection of an interested public.

Tomorrow, many more companies, depending for their success and prosperity on public confidence, will lift the curtains that veil their board and work rooms—they, too, will come to printing candid advertisements in the newspapers.

The public may overlook, but does not forgive, a lie or an abuse of its confidence. The public regards with suspicion those who attempt to serve it in secrecy and silence. The public is repelled by juggled facts or befogging words. The public rewards with its favor and money those who tell it the truth. It walks and shops where the light shines and where the paths are straight.

Throw on the light!

ADAM'S OWN CHILDREN

Almost Unknown People of Asia Full Weird Superstitions

Among the curious peoples of South-Western Asia are the Yezidis, who, according to their peculiar traditions, are not the children of Adam after the same vulgar manner as the rest of us, for one day, say they, Adam spat, and his spittle mingling with the dust of the earth became a boy and from this boy the Yezidis are descended! Hence they claim to be "Holler in the presence of the seven gods."

Among the Yezidis the Quawals are an order of priests who inherit the sacred office of preachers. The Quawals as they journey from village to village, perform certain secret rites from which outsiders are religiously excluded. On approaching a village they beat drums and the villagers, at the sound, hasten out to meet them and conduct them into the village, where they become the guests of the head man. After they have partaken of refreshments, the people are permitted to come and kiss their hands.

Before beginning the mystic rites, the eldest Quawal calls for a large tin dish half filled with water. In this he places a tiny image of a peacock and carefully covers it with a silken handkerchief. The other priests meanwhile begin to sing. They sing of love and war, of the heroes of the past, of nature and of the lessons conveyed by their religion. As they sing, the eldest Quawal, who presides over the ceremonies, becomes inspired. He begins to froth at the mouth and believes himself to be conveyed away to the land only seen in dreams, where dwell the never-dying gods. He becomes possessed and talks wildly, then suddenly he falls into a trance. At this moment the music ceases and the Quawal remains apparently insensible for 15 or 20 minutes. At length some one begins to pipe very softly and the aged priest comes to life just long enough to give warning that any non-Yezidi who may be present must be turned out.

On being reassured on this point he again becomes possessed and utters words in rhyme and sings to the accompaniment of soft music until his head droops down and he falls beside the basin of water. All the Yezidis crouch down and gaze at the Quawal and the peacock in the water before them.

Presently there is a slight commotion in the water and a soft voice is heard, whereat the Quawal comes to his senses and tells the people that the god Malik-i-Tawas has entered into the peacock from the water. He then asks questions and the image is supposed to reply, uttering prophecies. When the god is thought to have said all that he has to say the priest places the peacock in a net and all present kneel down and kiss it. Then follows music and dancing and the peacock is made to "dance" a so. Finally all disperse after kissing the hands of the Quawals.

The people are greatly devoted to the priests and display their devotion in a curious way. Many give their new clothes to the priests to be worn for two months. The clothes are thereby supposed to be sanctified. Certain it is that the priests always wear good clothes.

A vital force in the ranks of the unionists in England.

PRINCE IN SUBMARINE

Heir to Britain's Throne Takes a Dive While Visiting French Fleet

Imitating his Royal father, the Prince of Wales made a descent in a French submarine at Salin d'Hyeres, in the south of France, being accompanied by Admiral Boué Lapeyrière. In accordance with King George's desire, the Prince's reception was without ceremony.

The guard on the submarine Dactyl turned out, and the quartermaster blew their whistles, a customary salute to officers boarding a man of war. There was no band, and there were no salutes fired.

The other Admirals of the Fleet were on the quarter-deck, and were presented to His Royal Highness. Admiral Boué Lapeyrière then showed him over his quarters, which are those that would usually be occupied by the admiral, and consist of a sleeping cabin, a dining-room, and a sitting room, all plainly furnished. Once on board, the Prince seemed to be thoroughly at home, and went round the ship, taking an evident interest in everything he saw.

Prizes for Seed

Official notice is given by the Canadian Seed Growers' Association that substantial prizes in the form of cash and special trophies are offered for seed grown in the Province and exhibited at the next annual winter fair or Provincial seed exhibition. The date of this exhibition will be made public later.

In addition to the regular prizes offered to members of the association, special cash prizes are offered to boys and girls between 12 and 18 years of age for exhibits of spring wheat and white oats. A sweepstakes prize in the form of a beautiful gold medal donated by Dr. Jas. W. Robertson is also offered to the boy or girl having the best exhibit of oats in the Maritime Provinces, Quebec and Ontario, and wheat in each of the Provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. Each of these exhibits is to consist of a sheaf which must be at least six inches in diameter at the band and a gallon of threshed grain. The plants for this sheaf should be selected by hand from the field before the crop is cut.

Those proposing to compete for these prizes should arrange at once to make the necessary selections and should also write to Secretary Canadian Seed Growers' Association, Ottawa, Ont., and obtain a copy of the prize list rules and special arrangements regarding the transportation of exhibits.

Now is your chance, boys and girls; even if you don't happen to win a prize the experience you will gain will increase your chances next time.

Well Caught
He had returned home in the evening, tired and ready for a restful hour or two.
John, my love, said his little wife sweetly, did you post that letter I gave you this morning?
Yes, my pet, said John, hiding his conscience-stricken face behind the newspaper.
Well what is your answer? still more sweetly.
Wh-what is what? gasped John.
What is your answer, dear? said his little wife clearly. That letter was addressed to you.
Addressed to me! exclaimed John. I didn't notice it.
And then, like a foolish man, he fell into the trap and produced the letter from his pocket to see. The envelope was not addressed to him, out a long and severe lecture was.

Attacks of cholera and dysentery come quickly, there seldom being any warning of the visit. Remedial action must be taken just as quickly if the patient is to be spared great suffering and permanent injury to the lining membranes of the bowels. The readiest preparation for the purpose is Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial. It can be got at small cost at any drug store or general dealer's, and it will afford relief before a doctor can be called.

A solicitor, whose nose and chin were both very long, and who had lost his teeth, whereby the nose and chin were very close together, was told—
I am afraid your nose and chin will fight before long, they approach each other so menacingly.
I am afraid of it myself, replied the man of law, for a great many words have passed between them already.

Sam Johnson, you've been fighting again. You've lost two of your front teeth.
No, I ain't, mammy, honest. I've got 'em in me pocket.

Well, it don't matter whether you blies it again or roasts it, replied the lodger; you're bound to make a hash of it.

Good-bye to Asthma. Persons suffering from that extremely trying trouble known as asthma know what it is to long with all their hearts for escape as from a tyrant. Never do they know when an attack may come and they know that to struggle unaided is vain. With Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy at hand, however, they can say good-bye to their enemy and enjoy life again. It helps at once.

Why does it howl? she screamed.
Dunno. Perhaps it's got the toothache, he bellowed.

HOW MANY OF US

Fail to Select Food Nature Demands to Ward Off Ailments?

A Ky. lady speaking about food, says: "I was accustomed to eating all kinds of ordinary food until, for some reason, indigestion and nervous prostration set in."

"After I had run down seriously my attention was called to the necessity of some change in my diet, and I discontinued my ordinary breakfast and began using Grape-Nuts with a good quantity of rich cream.
"In a few days my condition changed in a remarkable way, and I began to have a strength that I had never been possessed of before, a vigor of body and a poise of mind that I never experienced."
It was entirely new in my experience.

My former attacks of indigestion had been accompanied by heat flashes, and many times my condition was distressing with blind spells of dizziness, rush of blood to the head and neuralgic pains in the chest.

Since using Grape-Nuts alone for breakfast I have been free from these troubles, except at times when I have indulged in rich, greasy foods in quantity, then I would be warned by a pain under the left shoulder blade, and unless I heeded the warning the old trouble would come back, but when I finally got to know where these troubles originated I returned to my Grape-Nuts and cream and the pain and disturbance left very quickly.

"I am now in prime health as a result of my use of Grape-Nuts." Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont.

"There's a reason," and it is explained in the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

OBLIGED TO QUIT BUSINESS

SO DREADFUL WAS THE SUFFERING FROM ITCHING PILES

After Twenty Years of Pile Torture Relief and Cure Came With

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT

You take no risk and you make no experiment when you use Dr. Chase's Ointment for piles. Many doctors still cling to the idea that nothing but an operation will effect a cure. But operations are expensive and dangerous, and often fail in their results. Some have been cured by Dr. Chase's Ointment after operations had failed.

Dr. Chase's Ointment truly has a wonderful record as a cure for piles and all itching skin diseases. Here is a case which was reported recently:—

Mr. John P. Marshall, 14 Barnes road, St. John's, Nfld., writes:—"For upwards of twenty years I was troubled terribly with itching piles; at times so bad that I was obliged to lay up, unable to attend to business."

"I tried many treatments without benefit, until I accidentally read of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and found at last a cure by using this ointment. I only used one box and part of a second one when I was completely cured, and have had no return of the piles. That was eighteen months ago, and needless to say, I attribute this cure to Dr. Chase's Invaluable Ointment."

Many sufferers from piles have tried so many scores of treatments that they cannot believe that cure is possible. In order to convince the skeptical we are always willing to send a sample box free to anyone who encloses a two-cent stamp to pay postage.

A Quaint Statue

Humor in statues is rare, except of the unconscious type; but the little parish church of St. James, Yarmouth (Isle of Wight), has within its walls a fine white marble statue of a dashing seaman who was Captain of the Wight from 1617 to 1692.

Sir Robert, as well as being an admiral bold, was also a bit of a wag. On one of his nautical raids he captured a French vessel which had on board an unfinished statue intended to represent Le Grande Manarque. Holmes did not make the sculptor, who was on board, walk the plank, but compelled him to finish the statue in the likeness of his captor. The head was the head of Holmes, but the body was that of Louis XIV.

The contrast is striking and humorous, and, as the guide-book says, the statue is well worth a visit, if only to see the incongruity of partnership between a buccaneer face and a regal body.

The Blarney of Blarney-Stone

Visitors to Southern Ireland should on no account miss the Blarney Stone. As the train from the North approaches Cork, the tower, which is practically all that is left of Blarney Castle, may be seen, and the magic triangular stone is situated near the top of this tower.

The gaining of this wonderful power sounds easy of attainment on first hearing of it, but in reality the aspirant is faced with a physical difficulty. To reach the stone, one must be held by the heels and lowered face downwards till one's face reaches the kissing level—no easy task, by any means.

The legend dates from the time of Queen Elizabeth, when the Lord of Blarney very effectively made empty promises of surrender and plausible excuses.

Minard's Liniment Cures Distemper

The Doctor Didn't Think So

A smart young doctor sat facing his patient.
Yes, my friend, he said gladly, you are quite well again now, and need not come here again.

The patient, recovering from a bad illness, was relieved to hear this. Then his face became overcast again.

But about der bill, doctor, he said—need it be told he was a German—I ain't got mooch money. Will you dake der bill out in trade?

The kind-hearted doctor eyed his patient's shabby clothes.

Well, perhaps I might, he said agreeably. Er—what is your trade?
I vos der leader off a Sherman band, doctor, said the patient proudly. We will blay in der front of your house every evening for one month.

Dr. Dyde Visits Didsbury

Sunday was a red letter day in Presbyterian circles in Didsbury, the occasion being a visit from Rev. Dr. Dyde, principal of Robertson Presbyterian College, Strathcona. Dr. Dyde conducted services both morning and evening in Knox church and the church was fairly well filled at both services, but the wet weather no doubt deterred quite a number from attending. In the morning Holy Communion service was held. In the evening the doctor spoke to some extent on the work of the college and its needs for the coming year. He stated that they had started with one small house last fall, the house containing ten student's rooms, but before it was quite completed the rooms were all taken by students and that they now had to increase the accommodation for resident students. He also stated that because a large number of students in the field were unable to take advantage of residing at the college during their studies because of financial difficulties, studies by correspondence had been conducted with great success; this was a new venture in college work. He also stated that there had been a professor beside himself on the teaching staff but that they had to engage another professor because of the increasing duties of the staff, consequently they would have to appeal to the public for financial aid. The doctor is an eloquent speaker, although his voice is not strong except when he wishes to emphasize a point, which he drives home with full force. His sermons were much enjoyed by those who heard him.

A Successful Picnic

The Presbyterian Sunday School picnic held on Thursday last at the butte was a great success, a full turnout of scholars with their parents and friends being present. Races of all kinds were provided for the youngsters and Mr. J. A. Findlay increased their fun by giving them a fast ride around the race track in his auto. After the races everyone sat down to a fine supper provided by the ladies, which was much enjoyed. The thanks of the Sunday School staff is extended to Messrs. W. G. Liesemer, Corney Hiebert, J. A. Findlay and Bob Robertson for their assistance and use of their autos during the afternoon.

Lawn Party a Success

The lawn party given by the Ladies' Aid of the Methodist church on the grounds of Mr. Fred. Moyle in east Didsbury on Thursday evening last was a great success from every point of view. The attendance was all that could be wished and every person who attended was loud in their praise of the way in which the affair was conducted. The house and grounds were well lighted with electric lights, and the Citizens Band enlivened proceedings with several fine selections.

The Ladies' Aid request us to thank Mr. and Mrs. F. Moyle, the band, and all those who assisted them in making this lawn party such a success.

Wedding Bells

The home of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Warren was the scene of a very happy occasion last Wednesday evening when Miss Blanche Grace Swingle, sister of Mrs. Warren, was united in matrimony with Mr. Hugh Ross of Zella. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Wm. H. Jennings, B. A., of Bergen. Miss Annie Ross, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid. The groom was attended by Mr. Leroy Swingle, brother of the bride. The bride was dressed in white silk with silk illusion trimming and the groom wore the conventional black. Only the relatives and immediate friends of the contracting parties were present. After the ceremony the guests sat down to a bountiful wedding breakfast, after which the happy couple departed to their new home. Both bride and groom are well known in the community, where they have won many friends by their pleasant ways and their active work in church and social circles.

Mr. Ross is one of our prosperous farmers and owns a well equipped farm in Zella, where he has just finished a fine new house for his bride.

Noxious Weeds in Didsbury

Who is the weed inspector for this district? It's about time somebody looked after this matter. A sample of stink weed was brought into our office this week and the statement is made that there is considerable of this weed around, which should be looked after because there is no weed in existence that causes more trouble in a dairying district. The Canada thistle is also becoming too prevalent for comfort and the C. P. R. right of way seems to be a great preserve for them. The railroad officials should be notified of this state of affairs and no doubt they would take steps to eradicate them.

Mr. W. S. Gunnalus, a farmer living near Fleming, Pa., says he has used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in his family for fourteen years, and that he has found it to be an excellent remedy, and takes pleasure in recommending it. For sale by all dealers.
